

NAC and APO conducted over 30 searches across the country in a file on electoral crimes

This morning, officers from the National Anti-corruption Centre (NAC) and the Anti-corruption Prosecutor's Office (APO) conducted searches in several locations across the country. The actions took place as part of a criminal case regarding the acceptance of illegal financing of a political party from an organized criminal group.

As a result of the searches, several relevant pieces of evidence were seized, including documents, drafts, mobile phones and financial means.

The investigations continue, to establish all the circumstances and accumulate the evidence necessary to adopt a legal decision.
