

NAC continues the “Integrity for a Safe Society” campaign. Around 650 people were trained this week

The National Anti-corruption Centre (NAC), in collaboration with the Ministry of Internal Affairs, continues the implementation of the national campaign “Integrity for a Safe Society”, through training activities carried out in the Soroca and Rîșcani districts. The campaign aims to consolidate an institutional culture based on ethics, integrity and respect for the law in public order and security structures.

In the same effort to promote integrity in the educational environment, students of the “Nicolae Testemitanu” State University of Medicine and Pharmacy (USMF) participated in the “Pro-Integrity” interactive Quiz – an educational exercise aimed at strengthening knowledge regarding professional ethics and integrity norms. The activity took place in a dynamic and competitive environment, oriented towards the development of professional responsibility and civic involvement.

Following the stages, the USMF teams were selected for the final stage of the Pro-Integrity Championship. Also this week, anti-corruption officers continue training new civil servants from central public authorities. The courses, organized by the National Institute of Public Administration and Management, aim to develop the professional and ethical skills of new employees, with an emphasis on the rigorous application of institutional integrity and professional conduct norms.

Also, training on institutional and professional integrity was conducted for employees of the Municipal Enterprise "Ialoveni District Dental Centre".

The National Anti-corruption Centre reiterates that all actions dedicated to preventing corruption are oriented towards cultivating a solid climate of integrity, by promoting anti-corruption policies and responsible professional conduct.
