During the visit, the students participated in thematic presentations and interacted directly with anti-corruption officers, who provided them with relevant information on the mechanisms for preventing and combating corruption, the risks associated with acts of corruption and the importance of respecting ethical norms in the exercise of their duties. At the same time, the participants had the opportunity to better understand the complexity of the activity carried out by the institution and the importance of inter-institutional cooperation in the process of preventing and combating corruption.

During the same period, the NAC continued to carry out anti-corruption training and awareness-raising activities in the territory, with 11 information sessions being organized within several thematic campaigns.
