

NAC together with anti-corruption volunteers emphasized the role of education in preventing corruption at the Conference "Integrity is my choice!"

The National Anti-corruption Centre (NAC) participated, as an invited institution, at the National Conference "Integrity is my Choice!", organized by the Ministry of Education and Research. The event brought together representatives of public authorities, academia, students and experts, with the objective of promoting integrity and strengthening quality in the higher education system.

The conference discussed key topics aimed at developing an institutional culture based on integrity, increasing public trust in higher education, as well as implementing good practices in ensuring academic integrity. Participants emphasized the importance of the shared responsibility of institutions, teachers and students in creating a fair, transparent and equitable educational environment.

An important role in the event was played by the involvement of anti-corruption volunteers, who participated as speakers. They highlighted the contribution of student self-government to promoting academic integrity and strengthening ethical values in educational institutions. The message conveyed was clear: "Integrity is not formed only through rules, but through involvement, personal example and commitment."

By participating in this event, the National Anti-corruption Centre reaffirms its commitment to supporting educational initiatives aimed at preventing corruption and promoting integrity, emphasizing the essential role of education in forming a responsible, honest and resilient society.
